The Minecraft World — Complete Lore Document

Compiled November 2027 (In-Universe) / March 2026 (Real World)

Version 2 — Full Update

THE PLANET ITSELF

Origin

The planet Minecraft is actually future Earth, millions of years from now. At some point, an event known as The Great Flattening occurs where half of Earth gets completely pressed flat — everyone in that half dies. The other half survives but civilization collapses back to the caveman era. Survivors reinvent languages and slowly rebuild, but some remember fragments of old technology, causing uneven technological development across regions.

The in-universe current date is November 2027.

The Great Flattening is approximately 2 years away from our current real-world date (March 2026), meaning it occurs around 2028-2029 in our timeline — though canonically it happens millions of years in the future (a paradox yet to be resolved).

A kid (the lore's author) living in 2026, two years before the Great Flattening, made up all of this lore — and it came true.

The Planet's Name

The planet is called Minecraft, named after Mine and Craft Town — the oldest known settlement, established in 127,368 BC, located in the normal (non-flat) world. Mine and Craft Town was actually Mojang's office in Stockholm, Sweden. The "pottery shard" archaeologists found with the name written on it is actually a broken piece of concrete building signage reading "Minecraft" — the "Studios" part broke off and is lost somewhere in the geological record. If anyone ever excavated the full building buried under thousands of layers of sediment, they would find the servers and discover their entire world was a video game.

The linguistic drift of the name: Mine and Craft → Mine 'n Craft → Minencraft →

Minecraft

The language of the Afuqo region (where Mine and Craft Town was located) has evolved from English over 127,000 years into Afuqojsqqqooasfuckenasterophjio. Separately, in 1538, another group reconstructed English from oral tradition and called it Anglse (they had forgotten the word "English"), spoken in Anglse Town.

Mine and Craft Town may predate the Great Flattening entirely — if so, the bone found under Obloville's grocery store dated June 7, 2029 would mean it predates the Flatlands' existence and belonged to someone alive in approximately our era.

Structure of the Planet

- The Overworld + The Nether = one planet
- The Nether = the mantle and core of the planet (not hell — just geology)
- The End = an asteroid belt orbiting the planet
- Netherrack = primarily phosphorus, which is why it burns indefinitely
- The planet is part of either the Java Solar System or Bedrock Solar System (two neighboring solar systems). Other lesser-known solar systems include: New Nintendo 3DS, Legacy Console, Chinese, and Education (which has a much different planet).

Netherite

Chemical formula: O6H18B4SiW2

- O6H18B4 (oxygen, hydrogen, boron) came from ancient asteroid impacts
- SiW2 (silicon and tungsten) came from ancient mining technology debris
- Combined under millions of years of mantle heat and pressure into an ultra-dense metal with chemical bonds that shouldn't exist but do
- This is why netherite cannot be crafted — the conditions required (billions of years, asteroid impacts, mining waste, planetary mantle heat) cannot be replicated
- Ancient Debris = the raw form of this compound, literally ancient space garbage and mining waste fused together

THE FLATLANDS

The half of Earth that got pressed flat during the Great Flattening. Bordered by The Spine — a mountain range taller than the world height limit that no human can physically cross. The only way through is teleportation (controlled rips). Rivers and oceans in the normal world flow down from the tops of The Spine. At the base of The Spine, in a region called Grasco, there is a small unexplained oak forest.

Nobody knows how humans originally got into the Flatlands. The mountains were always there. Teleportation is a modern technology. Yet humans have lived in the Flatlands since at least 42,378 BC (Flatland City). The leading theory is that the spacetime rip near Obloville may be the original entry point — possibly the oldest rip in existence.

Villagers can cross The Spine somehow. It is never explained.

Total population of the Minecraft world: approximately 20 quintillion people.

Wood in the Flatlands

Canonically, wood only exists in two places in the Flatlands:

1. The forests of Obloville (unexplained)
2. A small oak forest in Grasco, right on the edge of The Spine (unexplained)

Villagers somehow obtain wood from neither of these locations. Also unexplained.

REGIONS OF THE FLATLANDS

Flatland Region

- Located in the center of the Flatlands
- Home to Flatland City — established 42,378 BC by a person known as Faiwoaz (according to stories — no written record survives from that era)
- Population: over 1 quintillion people, still growing
- Tech level: far ahead — was already at approximately 2025-level technology back in 1438 AD because survivors of the Great Flattening in this region remembered old technology
- Languages: Flatlandish and Anglse
- One of the only cities in the Flatlands with democratic elections — Flatland City holds decadal votes (every 10 years)

- Current mayor: Harold Recheld Drawer, elected 2020, serving until 2030

Oblo Region

- Located on the border with Poplaus Region — not deep in the Flatlands as previously assumed
- The name "Oblo" comes from an old Flatlandish word meaning creek, named after Oblo Creek
- Growing rapidly overall, though individual settlements vary
- Language: Oblish (official), though Anglse is more commonly spoken in practice in most towns
- Home to Obloville, Oblo City, Oblo Village, Oblo Town, and Oblo Settlement

Poplaus Region

- Population: ~500 billion people, thriving
- Ended the monarchy in 1989
- Borders Oblo Region directly — Greenville is on the Poplaus side, essentially touching Obloville
- Former royal family includes House of Minger (King David Fafos Minger III) and others
- Language: Poplausese

Fedeep

- Population: ~2 billion people
- Still a monarchy — current rulers are King Bartholomew Gregory Forel III and Queen Lilian Grasgo Yttrium II, both born before 1794, over 233 years old and still ruling
- Known for political assassination (see: Robert Forel Forest, 2019)

Granlos Region

- Dying. Was home to ~500 billion people in the 1300s. Now ~500 million and declining.
- Every town in the region except Granlos City and nevaR troP is completely abandoned

- The decline may trace back to Otherwall's abandonment in 1326
- Language: Granlosee (dying alongside the population)
- Most recent town abandoned: Bliss City, October 2027 (last month, in-universe)

Longtan Region

- Completely abandoned. Had ~1 billion people in the 1200s. Now zero.
- Right next to Granlos — Longtan died first, Granlos is following the same trajectory ~200 years behind
- Language: Longtanese (extinct — not even dying, just gone)

No Man's Land

- A normal flat region that has never been populated in recorded history
- People have visited. Nobody has ever stayed. No known reason.
- No ruins. No graveyard. No history. Just flat land that humanity collectively passed on every single time.

Coastal Region (unnamed)

- Includes Port Raven and Fishytown
- Language: Grassos

Poplaus Region

- Language: Poplausese

OBLOVILLE AND THE OBLO METRO AREA

Obloville

Classification: Technically a city (municipality of Oblo). Acts like a town. Originally known as: Oblo Village West (unorganized, unincorporated community) First settled: July 7th, 1878 by Jo Kalob Flatland Official establishment: February 17th, 1904 at 6:34 PM, when the Oblo Region Municipality Government accepted the Town Proposal Founder (official): Jo Grass Flatland (born January 9th, 1879 — the first person born in the settlement) Current mayor: Thomas "Tom" Softman Smith (also serves as mayor of Fum) Population: ~25,000 (including the broader metro area) Official languages:

Oblish and Anglse — though Anglse is used on signs and in daily speech. Oblish is mostly preserved in neighboring Thealmfcoms.

Obloville is the single most anomalous location on the planet. Its population is static — nobody leaves, nobody really arrives. It just maintains itself. This is possibly caused by the spacetime rip.

THE FOUNDING OF OBLO VILLAGE WEST (1878)

July 7th, 1878 Jo Kalob Flatland arrives — first person ever to settle the area. An adventurer from Oblo City who decided to settle down. He built a campfire. His wife, Þema Dar Cavjjo, arrived 3 hours later. Over the next 3 days they built "The Flatland-Cavjjo Cabin" from nearby birch wood.

July 14th, 1878 Pelma Gaj Fernlo arrives from Oblo Village — a lone traveler who loved woodworking and chess. Built her own house, "The Pelma Place", where she woodworked, played chess with Jo and Þema, and slept.

August 6th, 1878 Cam Drah Gauri arrives from Oblo City — the settlement's only professional builder. Slept at Jo's cabin on the 6th, then:

- Aug 7: Built his own house, "The Building Core"
- Aug 8: Built a Smeltery
- Aug 9–17: Built a Tannery
- Aug 18–28: Built a spare house for future settlers

August 29th, 1878 Daniel Franklin Sadhan arrives from Oblo City and moves into Cam's pre-built house. Worked at the tannery.

September 4th–6th Cam built a Loghouse (storage for logs, branches, and wood).

September 7th Daniel planted a rare Pale Oak Sapling (purchased from a store in Oblo City before leaving). Planted it far from the settlement. Note: This tree will eventually stand right next to Obloville's elementary school.

September 8th–22nd (Cam built 3 more houses. Notable days during this period:)

- Sep 9: Daniel made primitive leather coins. Nobody used them.
- Sep 10: Jo started making laws.
- Sep 11: Cam finished 1st house.
- Sep 12: Jo added a fireplace to the cabin.

- Sep 13: Daniel asked Cam to make him one. Cam agreed.
- Sep 14: Cam finished Daniel's fireplace.
- Sep 15: Pelma added one to her house.
- Sep 16: 2nd house finished.
- Sep 17: Jo took everyone camping. Note: This location will later be known as Obloville's "leave whatever you want" spot.
- Sep 18: Daniel discovered he could cook well and became a chef too.
- Sep 19: Jo named the small sandbars in Oblo Creek to pass the time. These names are still recognized today, though one — Sandbar Island — no longer exists.
- Sep 20: Pelma woodworked her own dishes and chessboard.
- Sep 21: Pelma woodworked dishes for everyone else too.
- Sep 22: 3rd house finished.

September 23rd, 1878 Thelma Elmo Elixir arrives from Oblo City and moves into the smallest house, saying "I don't need much."

September 26th Daniel planted another Pale Oak Sapling on a hill he made by digging a hole where he planted a cactus and added sand.

FOUNDING FAMILY FATES

Jo Kalob Flatland (first settler) — Died 1999, stroke. Age ~121. Outlived his own son by 89 years.

Þema Dar Cavjjo (second settler, Jo Kalob's wife) — Died 2026, heart attack. Age ~148. The last surviving connection to Obloville's founding moment. Died last year in-universe.

Jo Grass Flatland (son of Jo Kalob and Þema, born January 9th 1879 — first person born in the settlement) — Officially founded Obloville in 1904. Died 1910, Flu E, two days after reading the complete 1905–1910 birth records. ObloVille mourned for a full year.

Pelma Gaj Fernlo (third settler) — Married Cam Drah Gauri in 1933 after 55 years as neighbors. Died February 1934 when her lungs deflated, one month after giving birth to Richard Nace Macroa. Never knew her son.

Cam Drah Gauri (fourth settler) — Married Pelma in 1933. Died 1978, lung cancer. Raised Richard alone.

Richard Nace Macroa (son of Pelma and Cam, born January 7th 1934) — Died 2005. Daniel Gagg pounded his head in with an anvil.

Daniel Franklin Sadhan (fifth settler) — First death in Oblo Village West. Fell into Oblo Creek in 1880, hit his head on a rock, bled out. His body floated downstream past Dremvare to an unknown location beyond the reach of any living explorer. Married Thelma Elmo Elixir in 1879. Son: Miles Takoma Haughlin (born March 4th 1880 — 6 days after his father's death).

Thelma Elmo Elixir (sixth settler) — Arrived September 23rd, 1878. Widowed 1880. Gave her son the surname Haughlin rather than Sadhan.

THE SPACETIME RIP

There is an uncontrolled rip in spacetime located in or near Obloville. Unlike controlled teleportation rips, this one is wild and unpredictable. It leaks things from the normal world (and possibly from different points in time) into Obloville, including:

- The forests (the only forests in the Flatlands, outside of Grasco)
- Oblo Creek (the only body of water in the Flatlands)
- The gravestone of Shakespeare Gandalf Mickey (born August 7th 1207, died January 1st 1208, Flu A) — one of the two pre-existing graves found when the settlement was founded
- The gravestone of a famous painter who never lived in the region — the other pre-existing grave (possibly connected to Omledra Xavier Cakek)
- A gravestone that appeared in 2023 for a person with a death date of 2050 — the person is still alive
- The rip appears to pull things from both the past AND the future of the normal world

The rip may be the oldest rip in existence and may be why humans are in the Flatlands at all. Obloville may predate the Flatlands entirely — it may be the original leak point through which humanity entered.

THE OLDEST HUMAN BONE

In 2027, the Obloville Public Grocery Store collapsed and was excavated. Archaeologists found a single human bone underneath it — the oldest human remains ever discovered on the planet. It may be dated to June 7, 2029 — which in November 2027 means the person hasn't died yet. If Mine and Craft Town predates the Great Flattening, this bone could be from someone alive in approximately our current era, whose remains were pulled through the rip millions of years into the past.

OBLO CREEK

The only natural body of water in the Flatlands. Named using the old Flatlandish word "oblo" meaning creek — so significant that the entire region is named after it. Origin completely unknown. The farthest anyone has traced it is a town called Dremvare, millions of blocks away. The one person who traveled to Dremvare to trace the creek simply stayed in Dremvare and never returned. Nobody in Dremvare ever leaves. Current best theory: spillover from a Spine mountain that accidentally leaked through the rip. Water quality is poor — not suitable for farming.

THE GROCERY STORE COLLAPSE (February 5th, 2025)

The Obloville Public Grocery Store had been visibly deteriorating since 2017, when the first black concrete started to crack. By February 5th, 2025, engineers had predicted the building would fall on February 6th. The roof was sagging, the floor couldn't hold weight, and the toilet hadn't worked in some time.

On February 5th — one day early — the building collapsed. Two people died:

Basil Grassland Greatview (born January 4th 2000) — Was just getting groceries, trusted it would make it one more day. Trapped alive under the fallen roof. A rescue attempt was made — Basil was almost reached — but then the concrete walls fell on top of everything. The most gentle person in every town in the entire metro area. Worked at a toy shop. Donated constantly to charity. Loved by everyone. Age 25.

Joseph White Clearview — 17 years old. The last remaining cashier, still showing up for his shift. Also trusted tomorrow. Both he and Basil had VIEW in their surnames.

Basil Farfetch Watermouse (Basil Grassland Greatview's mother) led the rescue attempt. Lost her arm when the walls came down. Suffered three heart attacks and two strokes on the way to the hospital. Survived. Died December 13th, 2027 (next month, in-universe) of another heart attack.

The site was excavated in 2026, and Oblovilleworks was built on top — a rentable workspace with rooms on various floors and two apartments on the top floor, both currently occupied. The patch of land has now been associated with the bone, the collapse, two deaths, one lost arm, and a photographer's fatal fall.

THE MAGAZINE INDUSTRY

Magazine Co. — Secret parent company. Owns both Good and Bad Magazine Co., and formerly owned Medium Magazine Co. (cut when unprofitable). Locals don't know this. Founded Outskirtville in 1998 and installed Lilac Foa White as its mayor.

Bad Magazine Co. — Thriving. Based in Obloville. Makes magazines riddled with ads. Generates its own electricity (two chimneys, probably coal-powered). Finishing and distribution step of the magazine manufacturing process.

Good Magazine Co. — Dying. Makes everything in one building. Grows its own sugarcane on Oblo Creek (poor water quality). Competes directly with Bad Magazine Co. without knowing they share a parent company.

Medium Magazine Co. — Dead in most of the world. Cut by Magazine Co. Survives only in nevaR troP (population 12), serving as a local publication for Port Raven immigrants and their descendants. Barely surviving.

All three use Fishytown glue.

The Magazine Supply Chain (Bad Magazine Co.):

1. Sugar cane grown in Yomlo (~500 billion overworld blocks away)
2. Shipped to Port Raven (coastal city, ~5 million blocks from Flatlands boundary)
3. Transported through a Nether portal
4. Paper manufactured inside the Nether (in the phosphorus mantle)
5. Shipped ~1 million Nether blocks
6. Emerges in Obloville
7. Bad Magazine Co. adds the cover (unsigned book = raw; signed = cover added)
8. Distributed by chest

Book manufacturing process: Raw sugar cane → paper → bound empty book (book and quill in-game) → cover added → signed book → shipped.

Fishytown Glue: Fishytown is the global hub for bookbinding glue. Named for its fishing industry. Located on the ocean, ~300 million blocks from Port Raven. When fish supplies run low, Fishytown sources glue ingredients from other sources. The horses of Fishytown mysteriously disappear sometimes. These two facts are unrelated. Officially. All three magazine companies use Fishytown glue with no questions asked.

OBLOVILLE PUBLIC POOL

Created by a city council vote on January 2nd, 1910. The sole deciding vote was cast by John Robert Asbra — a beloved box maker appointed to the council on January 1st, 1910. His only meeting. His only vote. He died of Flu E on January 3rd, 1910. The pool still exists and is loved by many in November 2027 — 117 years later. David Robert Miller (Jan 18, 1905 – 2015) grew up to be the pool's lifeguard.

OBLOVILLE PRISON

Contains at least one notable prisoner: Sandra Willer Walker, the ex-partner of Jimmy Cakek Valos. She tracked him to Obloville in 2023, threw him into a washing machine, and turned it on. She was convicted and imprisoned. Due to Obloville's population stasis effect, she is likely to remain here indefinitely. She is now a permanent resident of the most anomalous town on the planet, imprisoned in the town her victim called home.

OBLOVILLEWORKS

Built in 2026 on the rubble of the collapsed grocery store. A rentable workspace with multiple rooms (not many yet) and two apartments on the top floor, both currently rented. Daryll Gray Hawk (born January 1st 1987) fell to his death from Oblovilleworks on January 2nd, 2027 while taking photos as a professional photographer. The patch of land it stands on is almost certainly haunted.

THE WELCOME SIGN

On one side: "Welcome to Obloville!!! est. 1904" (in Anglse) On the other side: "Haiewer De Thealmfcoms!! Awo. 1911" (in Oblish)

The same sign serves both towns, with each community's language and identity represented on their respective side.

OBLISH VOCABULARY (known words)

Oblish	English
Haiewer	Welcome

De	To
Awo	Est. / Established
Oblo	Creek (old Flatlandish root, now part of Oblish)
Thela	Keeper (new Oblish)
Mof	Of (new Oblish)
Coyms	Sheep (new Oblish)

Thealmfcoms in Old Oblish = Keeper of Sheep (Thealm = Keeper, mf = of, com = Sheep) Thela Mof Coyms = New Oblish translation (arguably harder to say) Old English origin: The name Thealmfcom comes from old English meaning Keeper of Sheep

Notes:

- Oblo Village was founded in 236 AD and its mayor until 2016 was Teofania Torchlooker Branchsnappen, the founder, who died of Flu Z (newest and most deadly strain). Her husband of 1,800 years, Chared Heartthrobben Deathwhistler, became mayor after her death.
- Thealmfcoms was founded independently (not part of Obloville) but is considered part of the greater metro area. Signs are in Oblish; people speak Oblish — preserving the language better than Obloville itself.
- Outskirtville was founded by Magazine Co. in 1998 with Lilac Foa White installed as mayor — she may be connected to Magazine Co.
- Fun and Fum are just suburban houses. Fun first, Fum two years later.
- Fum was Gregory Awer Youua's last act — founded 2018, he died 2020.

- He survived until 1898 AD when he died of Flu H in Oblo City, working as a biologist
- Minimum lifespan: ~2,825 years
- Classification: Historical site

- The name Asterik appears again in the 1905 birth records (Lilian Asterik Asmodius) — possible connection to this ancient founder

OTHER NOTABLE LOCATIONS

Dremvare

- Located millions of blocks from Obloville along Oblo Creek
- Nobody who visits ever leaves — they simply become residents
- The one person who traveled there to trace Oblo Creek just became a Dremvare resident
- Nobody in Dremvare ever leaves Dremvare

Grasco

- Only settlement within approximately a 2-million-block radius
- Primary sugar cane supplier for the Flatlands magazine industry
- Language: Yomloish (completely isolated, developed independently)

Port Raven

- Nobody destroyed it — everyone simply left
- Not even one holdout remained

Otherwall

- Medieval town near Brotherville/nevaR troP in the Granlos region
- Abandoned: 1326 AD
- All that remains: the wall and a few select buildings
- The oldest documented urban death in the Granlos region — its 1326 abandonment may have started the chain reaction still killing Granlos

Granlos City

- Last major population center in Granlos
- Population: ~500 million, declining
- The 12 people of nevaR troP and the ruins of Brotherville and Otherwall are its future

Bliss City

- They didn't remember the word "English" and called it "Anglse"
- Slightly broken English, spoken to this day

MINECRAFT LORE CANONIZED

Mobs

- Zombies: Created by Inflienza The Fli — a flu-like virus that transforms humans into zombies. Very rare but still exists. Being killed by a zombie turns you into one.
- Skeletons: Created by Fli B — the skeletal equivalent of Inflienza The Fli. Very rare but still exists.
- Creepers: Just animals. They explode. That's the animal.
- Spiders, etc.: Just animals.
- Passive mobs: Just animals.
- Villagers: Pre-evolved humans. Less cognitive development than modern humans but have functioning societies, professions, and trade. Can cross The Spine via unknown means. Nobody has explained this and the villagers aren't talking.
- Endermen: Ancient people who got trapped on the asteroid belt (The End) and adapted over millions of years. Summoned the Ender Dragon from another planet.

- Ender Dragon: From another planet. Summoned to the asteroid belt by the Endermen.
- Ghasts: Originally happy ghasts (gentle and happy when given water in the Overworld). Ancient People brought them into the Nether and never returned them. Over generations they adapted to the heat and darkness and became the screaming, fireball-launching creatures they are now. The crying is ancestral memory of water.
- Piglins: Moved into the Bastions after the Ancient People abandoned them. Did not build them. Confident squatters. Speak Netherish.
- Warden: Came through the portal in the Ancient City before the Ancient People shut it down. The sculk is its native ecosystem, slowly terraforming the deep dark.
- Wither: Magic. No further explanation available or forthcoming.

Structures

- Bastions: Built by the Ancient People. Abandoned when heat killed their population and surface gold made Nether mining unnecessary. Piglins moved in.
- Nether Fortresses: Former quartz mines. Abandoned after the Great Undead Outbreak. Never reclaimed.
- Ancient Cities: Deactivated portal sites. Not ruins of civilization — containment sites. The Ancient People sealed a portal that had let the Warden and sculk through.

The Ancient People's Timeline

1. Built Bastions in the Nether mantle
2. Population declined due to heat
3. Pivoted to quartz mining (Nether Fortresses)
4. Abandoned Bastions (Piglins moved in)
5. Found portal in the Deep Dark. Warden and sculk came through.
6. Sealed the portal
7. Suffered the Great Undead Outbreak (Inflienza The Fli and Fli B)
8. Abandoned Nether Fortresses
9. Never returned to the Nether

Magic and Technology

- Magic: Real. Enchanting and potions work.
- Redstone: A gem that conducts electricity so efficiently it appears to generate its own power. Not fully scientifically explainable.
- Teleportation: Real technology using controlled rips. Anyone can use it. No risk. Only at established rip points. The Obloville rip is uncontrolled — wild and unpredictable.

Mod Islands

All game mods are canonically a vast archipelago of massive islands separated from the mainland for millions of years. Each mod is its own island with completely unique parallel evolution — new materials, creatures, and magic systems that exist nowhere else.

THE FLU — ALL 27 KNOWN STRAINS

The flu has evolved into 27 documented strains. There appears to be a general trend of increasing deadliness as strains progress, though this is not universal.

Notable strains:

- Flu A — Killed Shakespeare Gandalf Mickey in 1208. One of the oldest documented.
- Flu B — The same Flu B that exists in our real world. Killed Gregory Awer Youua in 2020.
- Flu E — Killed Jo Grass Flatland AND John Robert Asbra in January 1910.
- Flu F — Killed David Bob Schnere in 1986.
- Flu G — Killed David Robert Miller in 2015.
- Flu H — Killed Asterik Camer Smithfield in 1898.
- Flu P — The rarest strain. Only 2 confirmed cases ever. Most deadly known strain — death within approximately one day of contraction. So lethal it may kill hosts before transmission is possible.
- Flu Z — Newest lethal strain. Killed Teofania Torchlooker Branchsnappen (who had survived ~1,780 years) in 2016.
- Flu Oblo — The 27th and most recent strain. Named after the Oblo region where it emerged. Approximately as deadly as Flu B. Possibly leaked through the Obloville spacetime rip.

Undead Flu variants:

- Inflienza The Fli — Transforms infected humans into zombies. Very rare, still present.
- Fli B — Transforms infected humans into skeletons. Very rare, still present.
- These variants caused the Great Undead Outbreak that ended the Ancient People's civilization.

- Born: August 7th, 1207 | Died: January 1st, 1208
- Cause: Flu A
- One of the two pre-existing graves found when the settlement was founded in 1878. The gravestone was pulled through the spacetime rip from the normal world. The other pre-existing grave is the famous painter (see below).

Unknown Famous Painter

- One of the two pre-existing graves found in 1878
- Never lived in the region
- Gravestone was pulled through the spacetime rip
- Possibly connected to Omledra Xavier Cakek (buried 1107, also a famous painter, also in Obloville) — though this is unconfirmed

Unknown Person (2050 Grave)

- Appeared in the graveyard in 2023 with a death date of 2050
- The person is still alive in November 2027

- Nobody knows who it is or where it came from
- Consistent with the rip pulling future events into the present

---

Omledra Xavier Cakek

- Title: “amazing painter!”
- Born: 1020 | Died: 1107
- Cause: Lead paint buildup
- Most famous painter in the region. Born and raised in Obloville. Painted for 87 years until the lead paint accumulated fatally. Note: Bruce was also born in 1020 — they were contemporaries.

Bruce

- Title: Not recorded
- Born: 1020 | Died: 2020
- Cause: Murdered
- Born in what is now Oblo City. Lived there for 956 years before moving to Obloville in 1976. Murdered in 2020 by unknown person(s) for unknown reasons. Died the same year as Gregory Awer Youua (Flu B). His move to Obloville in 1976 after nearly a millennium elsewhere suggests he knew something about the town. 1,000 years old at death.

Jo Grass Flatland

- Title: Founder of Obloville
- Born: January 9th, 1879 | Died: 1910
- Cause: Flu E

- Title: “Jo the 2nd”
- Born: November 13th, 1850 | Died: July 6th, 1950
- Cause: Cart crash (died one day before the anniversary of Jo Kalob Flatland’s arrival)
- Frequently mistaken for founder Jo Grass Flatland due to nearly identical name. Nickname “Jo the 2nd” was coined to help disambiguation. After 1910 with Jo Grass Flatland dead, if someone said “Jo” and meant a living person, they meant either Jo the 2nd or Joe the not founder.

Joe Aster Astra

- Title: “Joe the not founder”
- Born: January 8th, 1894 | Died: November 17th, 1906
- Cause: Shot 7 times with a 37.7 mag shotgun by Daniel Gagg
- Age 12. Had a passion for space (his last name: Astra). Frequently confused with founder Jo Grass Flatland due to similar name. Killed by Daniel Gagg. Possibly related to Astra Dasmadius Thealmfcom.

Grad Fajo Aatrat

- Title: “Cute lil boy”
- Born: February 5th, 1980 | Died: February 5th, 1990

- Cause: Cart crash — on his way to his own birthday party

Tyler Gandak Iopa

- Title: “Normal Dude”
- Born: April 29th, 1978 | Died: May 5th, 2024
- Cause: Breast cancer
- A completely normal accountant who enjoyed cooking and knitting. Lived quietly and normally in the most anomalous town on the planet. That was enough.

James “Jimmy” Cakek Valos

- Born: April 7th, 1998 | Died: April 5th, 2023
- Cause: Thrown into a washing machine and turned on by his ex, Sandra Willer Walker
- Died two days before his 25th birthday. A well-known, beloved chemist who made great discoveries. His ex (who he had left two years prior due to domestic abuse) tracked him to his hometown of Obloville and killed him. Sandra Willer Walker is currently incarcerated in Obloville Prison. The Cakek surname connects to Omledra Xavier Cakek (1020–1107) — the family has been in Obloville for over a thousand years.

Gregory “Greg” Hak Opal

- Born: September 18th, 1989 | Died: January 31st, 2012

Basil Grassland Greatview

- Title: "THE MOST GENTLE PERSON YOU WILL EVER MEET"
- Born: January 4th, 2000 | Died: February 5th, 2025
- Cause: Crushed in the Obloville grocery store collapse

THE JO DISAMBIGUATION SYSTEM

After 1906, Obloville had multiple people with nearly identical names to its founder:

- Jo Grass Flatland — THE founder. Dead since 1910.
- Joe Aster Astra — "Joe the not founder." Dead since 1906 (shot by Daniel Gagg).
- Jo Calob Falkland — "Jo the 2nd." Dead since 1950 (cart crash).

After 1910, if someone referred to "Jo" as a living person, they meant either Jo the 2nd or Joe the not founder. After 1950, all three were dead and disambiguation became historical rather than practical.

THE HAUNTED PATCH OF LAND (Oblovilleworks Site)

Events associated with a single patch of land in Obloville:

1. Ancient human bone dated June 7th, 2029 buried beneath it (predates the settlement)
2. Grocery store built on top — cracking since 2017
3. Basil Grassland Greatview crushed in collapse, February 5th, 2025
4. Joseph White Clearview (17) crushed in same collapse
5. Basil Farfetch Watermouse lost her arm in rescue attempt on the same site
6. Oblovilleworks constructed on the rubble in 2026
7. Daryll Gray Hawk fell to his death from Oblovilleworks, January 2nd, 2027

The land is almost certainly haunted.
